A Fatal Runaway.

(Published by Request of Family.)

One of the saddest deaths to occur in Columbia in many years was that of Miss Dollie Vanoy, of Stanford, Monday morning. She and her sister, Miss Mary, had been visiting their uncle, Mr. Thurman, near this place, and attending the Fair. Monday morning accompanied by Mr. Twyman Atkins, they drove out to the residence of Mr. John B. Coffey to bid Mrs. Coffey goodbye before taking the stage for home. Miss Dollie and Mr. Atkins remained in the buggy while Miss Mary went in to see Mrs. Coffey, and during her absence the horse became frightened and made a dash in the direction of town. Mr. Atkins clung manfully to the lines and would, no doubt, have succeeded in getting the horse under control but for his balance and was thrown from the buggy. Feeling no further restraint on the reins the now thoroughly frightened horse plunged wildly onward.

When near the residence of Mr. Parsons, it is thought by those who witnessed the affair, that Miss Vanoy attempted to jump out. At any rate she fell violently to the ground just in front of Mr. Parsons' residence. Mrs. Geo. Coffey and Mrs. Parsons and several other ladies ran to her immediately and were horrified to find life almost extinct. They tenderly carried her into the house and dispatched a runner for Dr. Grady, who at once responded. However before he arrived the gentle spirit had taken its flight. It developed that the young lady was instantly killed by the terrible fall. Her neck was broken and her right limb was also broken just above the ankle.

The parents of the unfortunate young lady were immediately telephoned by Mr. John B. Coffey and arrangements for the removal of the remains made. Many of Columbia's noble hearted women laid aside everything and hurried to the scene of death. Motherly hands washed the blood stains from the pure white brow and prepared the silent form for its last journey home. Motherly hands and voices sought to comfort the prostrated sister, while their hearts throbbed with emotion and tears welled up to their eyes. Everything that tender hands could do, was done for the comfort of the grief stricken sister. The remains were placed in a beautiful white plush casket, and the hearse followed by the sister and uncle and a number of friends from this place, took up its 55 mile journey to Stanford, which was unbroken during the night. Interment took place near Stanford, Tuesday afternoon, in the presence of a very large crowd of friends and relatives.

Deceased was a beautiful young lady about 20 years of age, and during her visit here won a host of friends. Next week she would have returned to College and would have graduated next year. We deeply deplore her untimely taking away and our profound sympathy goes out to each member of her family in their sorrow. What a vast difference in the anticipated homegoing and the real one! The former would have been bright and joyous. The latter was extremely sad and created a sorrow in the hearts of her loved ones that time can not erase.—Columbia Spectator.

To The Memory Of Dolly.

There was never a golden sunbeam
That fell on a desolate place
But left some trace of its presence
That time can never efface.

On Monday, Aug. 28th, the sad news swept over the country that Dolly Vanoy was dead. The very picture of health and happiness, laughing and chatting with her friends, she was snatched away without a moment's warning, verifying that in the "midst of life we are in death." Death, when it comes to the old and infirm, is indeed sad, but when it comes to a noble young woman how piercingly sad and heart-rending it is to those who loved her so devotedly in life, and they realize that the grim monster chooses a shining mark. The light of the household, the youngest there. Dear ones, weep not, but look forward to the "Beautiful Some Day" of the song she sang so much and when cares overshadow you, your eyes are heavy and your hands are tired, remember that some day when you shall be happier, a day when rest and peace and sweet content shall take the place of pain and sorrow and we shall lay down the burden at the gateway, on the other side of which we all hope to find rest and joy in heaven.

Dolly loved her friends. Gentle and unassuming, she gained their love, ever forgetful of self in contributing to the happiness of others. Truly did her friends remark over her lifeless form: "She was a sweet girl!"

There is no death! What seems so is transition. She lives to-day and standing on the battlements of heaven, she calls to her loved ones and friends to be comforted. She has left them, but they shall meet again.

DEVOTED FRIEND.

HUSTONVILLE.

Cowan & McCormack want two car loads of good butcher cattle at once for the Eastern market.

George Routh has rented the Jenkins farm and will move as soon as possession can be given him.

Mrs. H. R. Oldson and children, accompanied by Misses Maud and Dollie Williams, left this week for Roanoke, Ala.

J. G. Weatherford & Co. have received another car load of salt and are prepared to salt down any competitors on prices.

W. G. Cowan refused $1,000 profit on the Weatherford farm. Gill wants to live on the pike and convenient to the schools, etc.

We are glad to announce that W. S. VanArsdale has re-rented the Cloyd farm and he and his excellent wife will be with us permanently we hope.

Newton Bros. desire to return their thanks to their hosts of friends from Lincoln and Casey counties who so liberally patronized them at Somerset during the fair.

Born on the morning of the last eclipse of the sun to the wife of E. A. Richenbach, of Mt. Salem, an 11-pound boy, E. A. Richenbach, Jr., for which many thanks are extended by the happy father and mother to Dr. Alcorn.

T. J. Robinson has sold his farm of 120 acres to F. M. Peavyhouse and sons at $75. Possession in 30 days. This is more evidence of what our graded school is doing for the fortunate owner of property within the boundary of the district.

An especially attractive home of 230 acres of all hemp and tobacco land 1 1/2 miles from town, on turnpike. Splendid improvements, well watered and fenced. Must sell in 60 days or not at all. Not an acre of poor land in the tract. Call on W. R. Williams.

Contracts have been let, material bought and work will begin in a short while on another seven room, modern cottage on the corner of Western Ave. and West Main Street by Thomas Peacock. The building is a model of architectural skill and is to be ready for occupancy by Dec. 1st.

The manager of the Southern League wired James Frye to name a price at which he would play the balance of the season and come at once. Mr. Frye declined on account of fever in the South. His record this season with the Frankfort team shows he participated in 15 games, winning 12 and without an error.

J. Sid Adams has quite a lucrative position on the road for a wholesale house in Birmingham, Ala. Miss Isabel Ross, of Dripping Springs, was with friends here this week. Mrs. Pattie Williams and family have taken rooms at the College for the convenience of her children, who will attend the Graded School.

A feature worth hearing will be the speech of Mr. Chas. Wheeler at the opening of our graded school next Monday, to which all are invited. Mr. Wheeler is president of the board of education and has traveled this country from ocean to ocean and although he hasn't a child now to educate, in his years of travel he has seen the necessity of a better education so evident that he is ready to give his time and means to help those who are willing to accept.

On Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Coulter, near Middleburg, their handsome daughter, Miss Jessie, was married to Mr. Jason Taylor, of Lost Branch, New Mexico. After the ceremony by Rev. J. Q. Montgomery, the 100 or more friends and relatives present were given a bountiful feast of all the delicacies of the season. The costumes, as well as presents were elegant. The bride and groom were given an elegant supper at the beautiful home of the groom's father, Mitchell Taylor, in Danville, on Wednesday evening and left for their home in New Mexico on the midnight train.

Are You Engaged?

Engaged people should remember, that, after marriage, many quarrels can be avoided, by keeping their digestions in good condition with Electric Bitters. S. A. Brown, of Bennington, S. C., says: "For years, my wife suffered intensely from dyspepsia, complicated with a torpid liver, until she lost her strength and vigor, and became a mere wreck of her former self. Then she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and finally made her entirely well. She is now strong and healthy." G. L. Penny, druggist, Stanford, and Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard, sell and guarantee them, at 50c a bottle.

Atlanta's only yellow fever case resulted fatally.

The storm on Lake Superior proved to be one of the most disastrous in many years. In addition to the steamer Sevona, the Schooners Pretoria, the largest sailing vessel on fresh water, and Olive Jeanette were wrecked. 20 lives, and property valued at $500,000 were lost.

W. R. "Polk" Fletcher, who narrowly escaped the death sentence at Russellville for alleged criminal assault on Mary Gladder, has made an affidavit denying any relationship or connection with any supposed bribery of N. E. Christian, the juror who held out for a penitentiary sentence of 20 years.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Aids Nature.

Medicines that aid nature are always most effectual. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It allays the cough, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions, and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. It is famous for its cures over a large part of the civilized world. Thousands have testified to its superiority and excellence. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. For sale by all druggists.

This is a great country. We have cholera in the Philippines, bubonic plague in Panama and yellow fever in New Orleans.—Frankfort Journal.

MR. CHAS. F. MONTGOMERY.

Casey's next county attorney. He was nominated by the democrats of the "State of Casey" and what he will do to his political opponent, Mr. J. C. Lay, will be a plenty. Mr. Montgomery is the oldest son of Eld. J. Q. Montgomery and lived in this county until some six or eight years ago. He is a graduate of State College and is one of the best lawyers at the Liberty bar. A year ago he married Miss Mary Carpenter, of the West End of this county. Mr. Montgomery's many friends in Lincoln wish him success in his race and would be "deighted" to deaden over the Casey line and vote for him if they could.

KINGSVILLE.

Dr. Bradford Warren opened school Monday with a good attendance.

Green Murphy, wife and little daughter, Esther, went on an excursion to Frankfort.

Mr. D. M. Creighton continues ill. Miss Sallie Walls entertained a number of her friends socially Thursday evening.

Meredith Francis will have a G. A. R. reunion at the usual place, about 2 1/2 miles from Kingsville, the latter part of this month.

It has been suggested that the Christian church be converted into an opera house or concert hall. It has long been without a pastor or the least prospect of one.

Thompson & Evans have contracted to build a house for Louis Watts. John G. Walls has traded real estate with Tom Houpe and the former will build a residence.

The water melon season here is about over. T. R. Taylor claims the championship as he raised one which weighed 30 pounds and was one of the very best and sweetest melons raised this year.

Messrs. McElroy, Kirby, Brown and others are doing splendidly in the sewing machine business here. They are very clever and popular gentlemen and have been stopping at Hotel Walter for the past three weeks.

Mrs. Manfred Chevolette spent several days with her parents at Highland. This fair young matron, so recently made a bride, has our apologies for having written her maiden name in our last letter instead of the one she now bears.

HIGHLAND.

Sorghum making has begun. Rev. Strother Cook, of Mercer, held services at the Christian church last Sabbath.

J. M. Atkins has sold his farm to Mr. Thomas, of Lee county, for $1,200. O. G. Speaks has sold his farm to a Mr. Baughman, of Danville, at $13.

Got off Cheap.

He may well think, he has got off cheap, who, after having contracted constipation or indigestion, is still able to perfectly restore his health. Nothing will do this but Dr. King's New Life Pills. A quick, pleasant and certain cure for headache, constipation, etc. 25c at G. L. Penny's drug store, Stanford, and Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard; guaranteed.

The Russian and Japanese peace envoys left Portsmouth Wednesday, and after brief stops in Boston arrived in New York last night. Both delegations were received with great enthusiasm at points along the line of their journey.

All America

$3.50 AND $4 SHOES

Are shaped like a foot. All the seams are deeply buried in the leather; the thick, soft lining prevents uneven surface; the insole which is next to the foot, is soft and smooth, the stitches holding the bottom of the shoe together, can not become uneven ridges, because between them and the soft insole is a hard leather sole. The heels must always fit because the counter is curved at both top and bottom; the eyelets are covered on the inside with a soft leather strip. No matter how tight the shoes are laced, they can not pinch the feet. All America Shoes are good looking. They cost $3.50 and $4.00 because they could not be made better at a higher price.
